Yaple's sneers at the "national bankers," "bond-holders," and "lumber-lords" of Michigan, are cruel thrusts at the great and good Begols.

Let all Michigan greenbackers remember that there is no possible way for them to vote for Butler the union general, without casting a vote for West the confederate brigadier.

The Detroit Free Press is a good newspaper aside from its political department, but in that line it furnishes more specimens of pure demagogism than any other paper in the state of Michigan.

"Yes, pull" in all the fusion free-traders and let the political prohibitionists be "All out" off, and yet there are republicans enough left in the 4th congressional district to make the inhabitants thereof take to their "Burrows."

Prof. Proctor predicts that all water will have disappeared from the earth in just 1,000,000 years. Too bad, that just as the prohibitionists come into power, mankind will have to drink beer or die, and St. John's occupation will be gone.

"I want the farmers of this district to understand what they ask, when they ask me to vote for the restoration of the duty on wool; I DIDN'T DO IT AND BY THE ETERNAL, I NEVER WILL DO IT!"
—Congressman Yaple, at Lawrence, Sept. 25.

The greenbackers of Pennsylvania held a state convention on the 30th ult., endorsed Gen. Butler the protectionist, and declared strongly in favor of a protective tariff. Yaple declares he is a free-trader because he is a greenbacker. Greenbackers who support Butler cannot conscientiously vote for Yaple.

According to the English nobleman, Sir James Laird, the average wages paid to farm laborers in Great Britain, in the most favored localities, is $12 per month, without board, while in the southern part of England, the average is but $9 per month. According to the report of the agricultural bureau, the average monthly price paid for farm-labor in the United States is $18.58. And yet free-traders say there is no difference worth mentioning, between the wages of the American and British laboring-man.

Speaking of the prospect in Ohio the Detroit Free Press says: "If Ohio gives you"—the republicans—"less than 30,000 on a full vote in October, you may as well subside. Even if it gives you 40,000 at the price you are paying for it, you will hardly have any fight left in you." The Free Press's arithmetician is a fanner fellow than M. Quad. He ought to be promoted to the head of the humorous department of that paper. The Free Press evidently sees the hand-writing on the wall, and is beginning to hedge.

Even new political parties do not always harmonize example and precept. The prohibitionists, at their county convention resolved that they would not endorse the nominees of any other political party, nevertheless, they took their candidates for treasurer and surveyor from the fusion ticket. This action emphasizes the statement recently made by one of their local leaders, that their principal object is to accomplish the defeat of the republican party.

J. W. McGrath, commissioner of labor for the state of Michigan, gives the following as the rate of wages paid by the mining companies of the Upper Peninsula: Machinists, $56 per month; engineers, $48; firemen, $45; blacksmiths, $64; carpenters, $55; masons, $48; teamsters, $42; watchmen, $50; laborers, $33; miners, $42; boys in the rock and stamp mills, $21 per month. Perhaps this specimen of American wages may serve as a pointer as to why so many foreign laborers seek a home in protected America.

On the 26th ult. the acting secretary of the treasury issued a call for $10,000,000 of the 3 per cent bonds. But Yaple says the question of the payment or perpetuation of the national debt is in issue at the approaching election. He says further, that the government don't redeem the 3 per cent bonds because they are held by the banks. His statement reminds us of a conundrum propounded by one lad to another, as follows: "My parents had but two children, one son and one daughter, and yet that lad is my brother." The answer was "the boy lied."

Now, there is but one available course for independent and patriotic men, whether republicans or democrats. If they wish to protect against the unfit candidates of their own parties, they must vote for Gen. Butler. —Paw Paw Herald.

Well, Bro. Herald, if any one shall attempt to follow the foregoing advice, he must remove from Michigan. There is no way provided in this state by which a citizen can cast his ballot for Butler, without at the same time voting for Cleveland. Isn't it unkind, too, on the part of the Herald, to intimate that Mr. Cleveland, to whom it gives about five-sixths of its support, is an unfit candidate for the presidency?

Fusion in Michigan.

Speaking of the fusion scheme in Michigan, the Detroit Free Press says that it does not follow because there are six national and six democratic common to the electoral ticket, that Cleveland and Hendricks, if the state is carried, will receive six electoral votes and Butler and West six, but that the proportion of each will be determined by the proportion of the total vote respectively received by Mr. Flanders, the straight democratic elector, who stands for Cleveland, and by Mr. Field, the straight greenback elector, who represents Butler. This statement of the Free Press is correct, although the intricate plan is not very thoroughly understood by a large proportion of the voters. Judging from the relative strength of the two parties to the fusion, as shown by the vote of 1880 which was the last separate vote, should the fusion ticket succeed, Cleveland would get ten votes and Butler two. In other words, a Michigan greenbacker cannot vote for Butler if he would, but must give ten-twelfths of his vote for Cleveland if he votes the full fusion electoral ticket. If he cuts off the democratic electors, he still casts a moiety of his vote for the democratic candidate. There are a good many greenbackers who believe in Butler and the greenback party, who do not believe in Cleveland and the democratic party, and sooner than be a party to such a bargain and sale they will vote the republican ticket. They don't like the unpalatable dish which their leaders have served up for them and will have none of it.

Australian Wool.

Chas. Kahlo, American consul at Sydney, Australia, has sent to the department of state some observations concerning that country, which we clip from the Evening Journal. Among other things he says:

"There are 31,769,308 sheep in that country, an increase last year of 1,205,546. Australia, it will be remembered, is one of the greatest competitors with American wool of any country on the globe, and it is claimed that if there was not a duty levied by our government on wool, there would be no sheep raised here within half a decade, as Australia would supply our every market. They cannot manufacture to advantage, but they can raise wool for the whole world. There are only 3,000 mills and factories of every description in the whole country there, and only eight of them consume wool."

And yet George L. Yaple, the free-trader, glories in his vote against the restoration of the wool tariff, and swears "by the Eternal" that he never will vote for it. Not only did he vote against such restoration, but he voted for the Morrison bill proposing a further reduction of twenty per cent. He says he is a free-trader, because he is a greenbacker, and could it be accomplished by his vote, no doubt he would remove the wool-tariff entirely. The wool-growers of this congressional district are beginning to see how sadly they have been misrepresented, and there are some democratic, and a still greater number of greenback farmers who will take particular pains to assist in his defeat at the approaching election. We know whereof we speak, and have the names of many such men who live in this county, and there are a good many others who, not caring to publish the fact, will quietly vote for Mr. Burrows. They do not feel inclined to sacrifice their flocks merely to help Mr. Yaple's aspirations to continue to misrepresent them in congress.

If free-trade is so great a blessing, and if the condition of the British laborer is equal, if not superior to the condition of the working-man in protected America, as free-traders would have us believe, isn't it a little singular that almost countless thousands of the laboring men of the British empire leave their native land, their homes, and their kindred to become citizens of the United States? American labor never emigrates to Europe.
